WHY STUDY IN AUSTRALIA

Australia has a strong reputation worldwide for its high-quality universities and colleges. Lesser-known to many, however, is its many offerings of vocational education. Vocational education and training can provide students with a pathway to enter the workforce or progress to higher education institutions.

One way of earning a vocational education in Australia is through the international institute of education which offers nationally-recognized courses to prepare students for the workplace. What is it, and how do international students stand to benefit from Vocational education and training courses?

WHAT ARE VOCATIONAL EDUCATION AND TRAINING COURSES (VET)

VET is a form of vocational education offered by the international institute of education in Australia. Their courses are highly diverse — you can find programs ranging from business to agriculture, and from building design to tourism and hospitality — in addition to being typically more hands-on in nature.

International institutes of education usually have fewer entry requirements than universities, making them highly accessible to students. Both international and domestic students can attend an international institute of education to complete courses that range from certificates, diplomas, and advanced diplomas to postgraduate-level courses.

WHY SHOULD I PURSUE VET AT THE INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE OF EDUCATION?

VET courses are short, affordable, and have flexible study options. Offered by the international institute of education, this provides students some comfort and security over the quality of their qualifications.

VET courses are also highly popular among international students, thanks to their extensive range of courses and subject areas that provide practical skills and vocational training for a huge variety of careers.

By enrolling and successfully completing a VET course, you can expect to improve your chances of being accepted into higher education courses, and improve your employment prospects thanks to the practical skills gained, in addition to enjoying more individualized attention through small classes.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST?

Fees for VET courses vary depending on the program, for a rough idea, the fees per semester for the international institute of education range from over 4,000 to 6,000 Australian dollars.

The total cost of a diploma program at the international institute of education can range from over AU$12,000 to AU$20,000.
